Description: Who knows the best way to be mad? Bear stomps. Hare hops. Bobcat screams. Mouse? He just can't get it right. But when he finds the way that works for him--still and quiet--he discovers that his own way might be the best of all. Linda Urbans story about self-expression and managing anger is both sweet and sly, and Henry Coles cast of animal friends...

Review: I imagine that most of the parents interested in buying this book are hoping that it will help them teach their children to control their anger. First of all, no book will be helpful unless it holds your child's attention while you're reading it. On this account, this book does well. I let my four year old child pick his bedtime stories, and he often...
